

Chapter 14: Transportation and Communication

Transportation

The means of transport are used to carry goods, people and other living beings from one place to another place inside the country and outside the country. The transport system includes railway transport, road transport, water transport, ropeway and air transport.

Role/Importance of Transportation in Economic Development of Nepal

The role of transportation in economic development of Nepal can be explained as follows:

1. Development of agricultural sector
2. Development of industrial sector
3. Development of tourism
4. Utilization of natural resources
5. Balanced regional development
6. National integration
7. Extension of market
8. Increase in government revenue

Means and Current Situation of Transportation in Nepal

There are three means of transportation in world (air, water and surface transport). But the main means of transportation used in Nepal are land and air transport because of landlocked situation.

A. Surface or Land Transportation

1. Road transportation
2. Railway transportation
3. Cable car and ropeway transportation
4. Trolley bus

B. Air Transportation

Communication

Communication is the exchange of thoughts, messages, information, etc. by way of speech, signals, or writing. The basic forms of communication are: personal communication which includes telephone (PSTN and mobile), email, postal services, etc., and mass communication which includes radio, television, newspaper, etc.

Role/Importance of Communication in Economic Development of a Country

The role/importance of an efficient communication system in economic development of Nepal can be explained as follows:

1. Development of agricultural sector
2. Development of industrial sector
3. Development of tourism
4. Improvement in education system
5. Increase government revenue
6. Social reform

Means and Current Situation of Communication in Nepal

The following are some of the important means of communication in Nepal:

1. Postal service
2. Telecommunication service
3. Radio broadcasting service
4. Television broadcasting
5. Newspapers
6. Internet